

Sgt. Paul Wehunt Lands In North Sea

Santa Monica, Calif., April 30, 1945—A mission to Leipzig ended for S/Sgt. Paul H. Wehunt, B-17 gunner of Campbell, in a ditching in the North Sea.

Wehunt, veteran of 35 combat missions over Germany, now awaits reassignment at the Army Air Forces Redistribution Station in Santa Monica, Calif. He has been awarded the Air Medal with five clusters.

In speaking of the mission over Leipzig, Wehunt says: "We had a target in the Leipzig area, but over Leipzig, we were forced to make a bomb run with another group. Two engines were knocked out instantly and another hit."

"The third engine ran for about forty minutes and then had to be feathered, so there we were, flying on one engine."

To keep the Fortress in the air, the crew threw everything overboard that they could tear loose.

When they finally made the North Sea, the pilot notified the crew to prepare for ditching. He brought the plane down on the water at two o'clock in the afternoon; the crew took to dingies and floated on the seas until noon the next day when they were rescued by Air Seas Rescue.

Wehunt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Wehunt, 191 W. Latimer, Campbell, and husband of Mrs. Lucille Wehunt.

Pfc. Rains With 142nd Infantry

6th Army Group, Germany—Veteran doughboys of the 142nd Infantry Regiment, experiencing some of their hardest combat in more than 350 days of battle, recently broke through the Moder Line at Oberhoffen, captured Wissembourg and slashed their way through strong Siegfried Line defenses.

These 36th Division infantrymen, of whom Pfc. Alfred R. Rains of 220 Central avenue is one, among the most battle-weathered troops in General Devers' 6th Army Group, fought for three days against completely manned Siegfried defenses but smashed through to get in on the kill of two German armies in the Saar Basin. They observed their second anniversary overseas by boosting their total of Germans captured to 10,000.

From the beaches of Southern France, these doughboys sped north and smashed back remnants of the German 19th Army trying to break out at Montelimar.

Legion Auxiliary Tea Held Saturday

The Tea given by the Campbell American Legion Auxiliary Saturday afternoon, proved a most delightful affair. The many guests present were greeted by the president of the Unit, Mrs. Evabell Fuller, after which a musical program was given by the Junior members of the Unit, including a piano solo, Lorraine Wood; vocal selections, Mildred Weeks; flute solo, Katherine Fuller, accompanied by Mrs. David Sanders; piano solo, Jeannette Gomes, and a humorous reading by Mrs. Fuller.

Mrs. Wood and her committee received many compliments for the beautiful floral arrangements they used in the hall. Large bowls of seasonal flowers placed on the mantle and various tables, and lighted candles in their colorful holders, made a beautiful setting for the lovely lace-covered tea table, with its bowls of yellow roses and the silver tea service. Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Fuller served the delicious refreshments. Each guest, as she entered, was presented with a corsage, to wear in memory of her mother. The Unit is the youngest organization in Campbell, and this was its first appearance as a hostess group.

The hope was expressed that it would not be too long before the ladies gave another delightful afternoon.

"I AM AN AMERICAN"

Although there are more than 130 million persons who can say proudly, "I am an American", the right to say that is no less a privilege. On the contrary, it is more a privilege today than ever before.

This Nation, long the promised land of the down-trodden peoples of Europe and Asia, is today the hope of humanity for the preservation of civilization itself. In her role as a world leader, America is faced with great responsibilities which must be intelligently approached and capably discharged not only for the benefit of other peoples but for our own good as well.

This task does not rest solely on the shoulders of our leaders; rather it must be shared by all Americans. The loyal citizen of today can no longer treat with apathy the pressing national and world problems. He must read about them, think about them, exchange views with others, and formulate clear-headed opinions. Just being a citizen is a real job in itself.

That is why Citizenship Day, which will be observed this year on Sunday, May 20, is becoming more and more an occasion of importance. On this day the many thousands of young Americans who have attained their majority during the past year, together with those of foreign birth who have become naturalized in that period, are welcomed into their new status as full-fledged citizens.

At the same time the duties, as well as the privileges of citizenship are impressed upon them. They are brought to a fuller realization of the part they must play in the life of the Nation.

These new citizens will help to build the America of tomorrow. They must build well. If they gain the true significance of what it means to be an American, they WILL build well.

MR. TRUMAN—AND BUREAUS

President Truman's order abolishing the Office of Civilian Defense and his recommended slashing of seven billion dollars in the shipbuilding program and eighty billion dollars from eight government bureaus is most refreshing news.

These savings would not be reflected in lower personal income taxes, but they indicate a trend toward sounder Federal spending. The recommended eighty million dollar cut in bureau budgets may produce some long faces. But we think Mr. Truman will wield the axe unhesitatingly as the need for war-born bureaus decreases. Some of them should disappear before very long.

It is difficult to conceive of any one thing, aside from final victory, which would give the Nation more of a "lift" than a program of genuine housecleaning in the fabulous city on the Potomac.

And such a program could well be extended to the states. Unfortunately, in some of them at present, efforts are being made in the opposite direction. In California, for example, some of the proposed bureaus are not only unnecessary and costly, but dangerous as well.

Government itself will operate more efficiently and business will be better able to bring real prosperity under a "de-bureaucratized" government.

If we are ever to return to normalcy in America there is no better place to begin than in government. Mr. Truman, we hope, will lead the way.

A DEPRAVED PEOPLE

Perhaps the worst calamity that has befallen our world as a result of this war—worse even than the horrible toll of death and destruction—is the revelation that there could be such human depravity on a mass scale as exists in Germany. And there is no valid reason to suppose that a sense of moral responsibility returned suddenly with the Nazi surrender.

We can mourn our dead and pray that they will not have died in vain. We can remember them, in word and deed, as we seek to build a better world, worthy of their high sacrifice.

But what can we do with the millions of moral lepers who have spread their dread contagion throughout Germany—the spiritually dead, but physically living, who have revolted the world with their bestial atrocities? What can we do with the Hitler youth? What can we do with the German people who stood by, with folded hands, while millions of their men and women savagely tortured and butchered the helpless and innocent?

In the aftermath of war, they may become civilization's worst burden, for they have not died with the Hitler hierarchy. Only their moral instincts are dead. Their viciousness and depravity still live—and the world must either cope with it, or this war, like the last, will have been fought in vain.

Swift justice for the Nazi leaders, as well as for their underlings who carried out the crimes, is necessary to awaken the German people to the realization that the flouting of human rights and the perpetration of fantastic atrocities cannot be gotten away with under the guise of "civilized" warfare.

Quick action and severe punishment should be the first step in re-educating the German people along the lines of decency and democracy.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"IMMORTAL WIFE" by Irving Stone.

This is the dramatic story of Jessie Benton Fremont, one of the most exciting women in American history.

Jessie was beloved, hated, feared, and feted across a continent, but her supreme achievement was the marriage she created with John Charles Fremont, which left its mark on every major event in nineteenth century America.

Irving Stone has written books that give us history, European as well as American, romantic, daring and factual. "Immortal Wife" is a literary proof of his narrative, historical writing ability unexcelled by any other writer in interest and story telling.

In this book we are given details of the founding of the west. Lieutenant John Charles Fremont, daring young topographer won fame as a fearless adventurer, commanding expeditions to California from St. Louis, blazing the trails for history-making treks. At the age of sixteen Jessie Benton fell in love with Fremont. She never got over that love. She used it to make a marriage that was for them an indestructible third entity, helping them build from every defeat to victory.

The spectacular rise and fall of the Fremont fortunes was linked to the historical highlights of their era—western expansion, California's break from Mexico, the Gold Rush, the Civil War. He won fame as a fearless adventurer, was nominated for President by both Republicans and Democrats, faced two courtmartial, amassed and lost a huge fortune. Trough it all, Jessie worked with untiring devotion to preserve what was dearest to them both—their marriage.

This is the most absorbing book that I have had the pleasure of reading in many months.

Recently home on a fifteen day leave from Camp Crowder, Missouri, was Pfc. M. J. Santos, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Santos, Sr. He is now at a port of embarkation on the west coast waiting an overseas assignment.

Claude O. Grizzle, HA 2/c, was home for five days last week between assignments from the U. S. Naval Hospital Corps school at San Diego to the U. S. N. H. at Oakland.

Fire Razes Feed Store and Home

Fire of unknown origin which started in the feed store operated by Ray Ferris at the Cambrian Corners on the San Jose-Los Gatos highway last week Tuesday evening also destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Higginbotham next door.

The complete contents of the Higginbotham home were saved by neighbors and other friends. Although the house was burned, it was insured.

F. A. Coombs, who owned the feed store buildings, said that the store and contents, both a total loss, were covered by insurance.

PLAN AHEAD FOR 194X LIVING...

Washday work banished by...

Automatic Washer—Tumbler Dryer—Ironer

You will no longer dread washday with its boring, back-breaking work when the 194X Home Laundry machines do your work. You will fall in love with them at first sight. You will love them for the labor they will save you.

First is the Automatic Washer. You put the soiled clothes in the machine—set a few knobs or dials. Then it washes, rinses, damp-dries all by itself.

Second is the Tumbler Dryer. You put the damp-dry clothes in this machine, set a dial and turn a knob and clothes are gently warmed bone-dry as they tumble about in a metal basket.

Third is the Ironing Machine. You would never do without one of the new speedy ironing machines once you use one. You sit down to iron pillow cases, shirts, towels... everything with professional skill.

In your Home of Tomorrow, provide space and Adequate wiring for these three work-saving wonders for the home. Soon after complete victory is won they will be available. Put them down on your must list.
